Free, all welcome

A "BioBlitz" is a large scale event that engages people with biodiversity, inviting them to get directly involved in surveying and monitoring. During a BioBlitz event scientists and members of the public work together to survey a natural space; seeking, identifying and recording as many species as possible over 24 hours. Starting at 10am with seeing moths collected on site.

Refreshments available, bring a picnic lunch.

Dr Alan and Marion Rayner from NatureMoments will be leading a day long BioBlitz at Broadlands. The children will pond dip, bug hunt and make a tree art sculpture of plants they find under a tree. There will be a map for anyone to put their favourite finds and favourite places at Broadlands.
