

Wood Heat 2014

Raising Our Standard

The Conference for the UK Wood Heat Industry

20th & 21st November 2014 - Newcastle upon Tyne

Organised and hosted by the Wood Heat Association and the Renewable Energy Association, Wood Heat 2014 brings together all parts of the wood heat industry in a unique event designed to share and promote good practice.

Supported by:

The UK renewable heat industry is growing at an exponential rate thanks to generous support from the Renewable Heat Incentive. Of all the renewable heat technologies, wood heat is dramatically outperforming all others under the RHI scheme.

The Wood Heat Conference is dedicated to the UK wood heat industry, with opportunities to learn from the experience of others here at home, and hear from international experts from industry and academia on the state-of-the-art in biomass supply chains and installations in Europe. The conference is aimed at fuel supply chain companies, installers and distributors of boilers and ancillary equipment, consulting engineers and other advisors, as well as those considering major investment in wood heat systems.

Hosted at the iconic Great North Museum in Newcastle, the 2014 Wood Heat Conference is a must-attend event, with speakers drawn from industry and government here and abroad. Running on 20th and 21st November, the conference has the theme of Raising Our Standard, with speakers covering subjects including :

- DECC's recent review of installer practices and standards;
- Wood heating technology 'over the horizon' in Europe;
- Effective financing for wood heat projects;
- The Biomass Suppliers' List;
- District heating design;
- Emissions from biomass boilers;
- Good practice in heat metering;
- Alternative sources of biomass for heat.

The conference will include speakers from the Government, the Wood Heat Association and the Renewable Energy Association, meaning those attending will have a better grasp than ever of the opportunities available in the wood heat industry.
